

McBain-Houghton Lake Cop Tourney

By Max Ferguson

One of the most exciting basketball tournaments ever held here was made history Saturday night as four classy quintets who had fought hard to get a chance in the final "round-up" battled for the championships of their respective classes.

Capacity crowds witnessed every session of play and helped in a big way to make the meet a tremendous success. The group of spectators was so large that it increased the nervousness of teams that had never played before such a crowd previous to the tourney. Two members of the Michigan State Police were on hand all three nights to keep the congregation of fans under control.

Those who attended the final games Saturday evening witnessed the toppling of one 1935 champion from its throne as McBain won a thrilling 28-27 decision over Gaylord to annex the tournament Class C championship. Gaylord, after downing Grayling Thursday night by 20-19 and then beating Lake City Friday night, 21-20, was considered a good bet to cop the honors in the upper division but McBain flashed a brand of ball that kept the Top O' Michigan squad stepping and just couldn't be stopped. Houghton Lake, by virtue of a two-point in the closing minutes of play defeated Roscommon, 19-17, to win the Class D trophy for the third straight year. Friday afternoon the boys from the Lake shore had to depend on their long shots in the last quarter to defeat Johannesburg, 34-22.

Thursday Night

Johannesburg, 51; Vanderbilt, 20.—The Red and White ran wild over the team that had beaten them twice during the season in winning, 51-20. Johannesburg held the lead throughout the game and as the score indicates they were never seriously pressed by Vanderbilt.

Roscommon, 25; St. Mary's (Gaylord), 22.—Roscommon started their march to the finals by turning back a fighting Gaylord team in a close game by 25-22. The two Borowiak brothers scored ten points each for the losers but it wasn't quite enough to win the ball game. In this game Coach Paul's charges displayed the brilliant passing and teamwork that carried them to the finals.

Gaylord, 20; Grayling, 19.—The tournament title hopes of Grayling high school's Northern Lights crumbled before Gaylord in the opening of Class C play as the homesters fell by 20-19.

Winner of fifteen games in the regular schedule, Grayling saw the game decided on a foul shot in the late minutes when the clubs were deadlocked, 19-19.

Benser paced the attack for the winners with nine points and G. Hanson accounted for six points for the losers.

The outcome of this game was a surprise to nearly everyone as Grayling had defeated the upstate five twice during the season, but Gaylord played the kind of ball they always play in tournament competition and deserved to win.

Friday Afternoon

Houghton Lake, 34; Johannesburg, 22.—The 1935 champs were kept real busy stopping the team that had scored 51 points in a game the night before and it wasn't until the final stanza that Houghton Lake put the game on ice by sinking some timely shots.

Roscommon, 21; Frederic, 19.—Our nearest neighbor on the North put up a real scrap before falling victims to Roscommon's powerful five. Frederic played heads-up ball all the way and it took a three-minute overtime—the only overtime in the meet—for them to be defeated. It was anybody's ball game to the final bell.

Friday Night

Gaylord, 21; Lake City, 20.—Gaylord high school made it two straight wins as they downed Lake City's flashy red and black aggregation, 21-20.

Although B. Osowski scored eleven points for the losers, it wasn't enough to bridge the gap between victory and defeat. Glasser was high point man for Gaylord with ten points.

The hard game the night before with Grayling didn't seem to have much effect on the upstate boys, they came out as strong as ever to cop another victory.

McBain, 29; Mancelona, 15.—McBain had little trouble beating Mancelona in the other Class C game on the card. Mancelona has been tough to beat the two previous years they have been entered in our tourney, but did not have enough this year to win over the McBain outfit who played like champions even in this game.

Finals—Saturday Night

Houghton Lake's rangy veterans won a thriller from Roscommon, 19-17, as they captured the Class D honors. Coach Hankin's team had a slight advantage over their rivals in that they had played only one game and Roscommon had emerged victorious in two close contests to get a chance in the final-go. The game was a nip and tuck affair, furnishing plenty of excitement for the fans and had them on their feet to the last gong. This win made the third straight time Houghton Lake has beaten Roscommon this year so undoubtedly the best team won.

The big surprise of the tournament was McBain's 28-27 victory over Gaylord in winning the Class C trophy.

The game started at 9:00 o'clock and not a person in the gym had any peace of mind or any rest until the game was over.

McBain started the scoring and garnered four points before Coach Makel's squad could find the hoop. After about four minutes the Blue and Gold began their scoring and the tally at the end of the first quarter was 7-4 in their favor.

The tables were turned in the second period as McBain unleashed an attack that netted them seven points while holding the points. The score being tied at the half, 11-11, brought the mob to their feet and it was on their feet they remained, yelling at the top of their voice for their favorite.

Both teams settled down to work in the third stanza and considerable scoring was done by both. Gaylord managed to take the lead, scoring 9 points to McBain's 8.

Beginning the final go of the deciding tilt the teams were on

Backman Pleases Large Crowd

TELLS OF KIND OF FELLOW THAT CAN'T MAKE TEAM

It was a large and interested crowd of dads and lads that was present to enjoy an evening of fathers and sons together and to near Charles Backman, football coach at Michigan State college, relate interesting experiences on the gridiron. It was held at Michelson memorial church Monday evening.

The aroma of good things to eat drifting from the culinary department of the banquet room at once tempted the appetite and promised that the hungry dads and kids were not to be disappointed. The tables looked fine with their white linens and tableware, and bouquets of sweet peas.

The singing of America and invocation by Rev. Hans Juhl, of the Danish Lutheran church marked the beginning of a big night for Grayling's men and boys and especially for the members of Grayling Kiwanis club who sponsored the affair.

Kiwanis song leader Frank Sales, with Mrs. C. G. Clippert, accompanist, soon had the big crowd singing as tho their very lives depended upon it. It was great fun.

President Emil Giegling introduced Attorney Charles Moore who was to be the toastmaster for the evening. "I have a great surprise for you," said Charley, in introducing the first number.

"Thru the courtesy of Chase & Sanborn and Major Bowes, we have with us one of the Major Bowes amateur quartettes who will now sing for us." That was enough to scare the liver out of any amateur, especially since the group was specially organized for the occasion and had had little rehearsal. Not a real musician in the group—Clippert, Sales, Miller and Schumann. But, by gingo, they didn't get the bell, altho President Emil would have shown good judgment had he rung down the curtain on this group. They sang "Daddy" and (they got an encore!) "Moonlight on the Colorado."

Toast To The Dads.

John Henry Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Holger Peterson, in a very pleasant way, toasted the dads. He said:

Mr. Toastmaster, Fathers and Sons:

After that wonderful banquet, I believe it would be easier for me to speak on "Mothers," but that would never do at a fathers and sons banquet.

I think these fathers and sons meetings are a wonderful thing and it surely is fine the way so many men have turned out, bringing with them a son.

I feel honored to be called upon to give a toast to the Dads.

In days gone by, fathers were looked upon more as a breadwinner and the one who laid down the laws of the household, but the boy of today likes to look upon his father as a friend and one with whom he can discuss the topics of the day, or plan a hunting or fishing trip, or perhaps talk on a project under way in the workshop.

Most of our fathers did not have the advantages we fellows of today have, but they are willing to work untiringly so that we may have the advantages that the present day offers.

When one says father, there is no set form or type that spring into mind for each thinks of his own—tall or short; skinny or fat—, for instance look at the array we have here tonight.

The term father is rather a collection of ideals. Just because a man may have a son does not necessarily make him a true father. The term father means more than just that. One may apply father to a man as we apply character and personality to humans; that which raises us from animals.

What little fellow does not swell with pride at some accomplishment of his dad's, which requires skill or strength, and how pleased if that same father will condescend to participate in games with him, or help run his new train, providing of course the son gets a turn once in a while.

As we grow older we are proud to look to our Dads for intelligent council and respect him for the place he has made for him self in the world, whether it be large or small as long as he has done his task well.

We like to think of our fathers as well mannered, kind and considerate of us as well as others. We are pleased with the interest he shows in our friends and we

A History-Making Winter

Public Opinion

March 11, 1936.

To The Editor:

An article appeared in your publication of the 5th in reference to the program in this vicinity of trapping deer, same being under the supervision of the Department of Conservation.

It is the opinion of the writer that such a program at its best is just another experiment with no one knowing the results of same as being beneficial. Past experiment has proven that deer so trapped and tagged, have returned eventually to the point or vicinity from which they were trapped. If so the program means a worthless expenditure of money that could well be used in a deer feeding program during the months when it is difficult for the deer to find sufficient food.

Also may I inquire, how does the Department know but what they are killing more deer through this program than they are saving. Is it not only natural to suppose that in trapping wild deer during a period when the does are carrying young, that the unborn deer are liable to die and possibly cause the death of its mother.

The citizens of this community have done everything possible to attract tourists and sportsmen. Money has been donated and spent that this vicinity might prove more attractive to them. Now the State steps in to live-trap our deer and remove them to other localities. Are the local citizens to stand by and allow this program to continue. The Conservation Department consider this program advisable in view of the fact that they fear the deer are becoming too numerous in this section for the amount of food available during the winter months. This may be a fact, but rather than overcome this problem through removal of the deer, which may prove to be the means of killing many of them, why not inaugurate a program of feeding during the months when food for deer is not abundant. Is it consistent for the State to continue pouring money into their program of buying acreage that the refugees and public hunting grounds may be increased, and yet overlook the formulation of a program that would assure keeping the deer herds we have. In this connection, not only is the feeding program advisable, but a definite action must take place at once to eliminate the killing of deer by dogs. The writer has recently learned of seventeen deer being found that were killed by dogs—how long are the citizens of this community going to stand by and allow the State to carry on a program of thinning out our deer herds and how long is the State going to stand by and let the dogs assist them in their program?

SPORTS

The defeat of our basketball team last week struck all of us in the center of the chin. The closing minutes of the game showed us how long we could hold our breath and tested the strength of our hearts as well as any stethoscope could do. Now that we have survived the shock, we do not wish to rationalize, but we do want to give expression to a thought which has often been in our minds. Our thought is this: Winning in any sport is secondary. The primary purpose of any game or contest consists in furnishing recreation and opportunity for mental and physical development and well-being. To acquire skill, progress, alertness of mind and body, to achieve a sense of teamwork, to practice good sportsmanship—these are considerations which should come before thrills to spectators. Not whether we win, but how we play might well be a yardstick for the measurement of our sports. The worst defeat possible is to win by unfair means, to resort to foul play. Undesired victory is worse than defeat. It puts a big number on the score-

All Stray Dogs To Be Picked Up

Authoritative information comes to the Avalanche that beginning Saturday City officers have been instructed to impound all dogs running at large, whether or not they bear a license tag, or not they bear a license tag.

This is the second step in the campaign to rid the City of these nuisances. When the ordinance was passed it was thought that if only the unlicensed dogs were taken, the dog population would be reduced to a point where no further enforcement would be required. However, a good many people seemed to think that if a dog were licensed it could roam the streets at will.

Those who allow their dogs to run the streets should not be surprised if they turn up missing, since it is the avowed intention to rigidly prohibit dogs from running at large.

In the light of this thought, Grayling High School in basketball has come through a magnificently successful year. The team has played hard and fairly. The boys have done their best. By word and deed the coach has taught the best of sportsmanship. His influence in the lives of players and student-body alike will be felt long after the scores of 1935-36 are forgotten. We shall remember with pleasure and pride two aspects of the past season: first, the good sportsmanship of the boys and their coach; second, the string of fifteen consecutive victories.

We might add that American high schools and colleges have something to learn from our cousins across the ocean. In our schools here in the United States we concentrate on the development of a small group of young men and a strong team. The rank and file of the student body are mere spectators who miss out on the training which athletics afford. But in an English school or college, every body is expected to be on some team. The emphasis is not on one winning team, but upon giving the values of athletics to every student. Perhaps we Americans could profit by a more serious consideration of the English emphasis. The intramural sport development in our schools is an indication that we are moving in the direction of the English method. We still have a long way to go. In the meantime we shall prize good sportsmanship above victory and shall root and cheer for the team which plays the game.

TRIBUTE OF APPRECIATION BY ONE OF YOUR COMMUNITY

Having a number of times this winter been a member of the audience which at various times was fortunate enough to have the pleasure of listening to artists and speakers of a high type, bringing to us for our enjoyment, instruction and uplift, music and lectures to which everybody is cordially invited by the public-spirited sponsors of these good things—I am moved to offer public thanks therefor in behalf of myself and other guests who shared in these very worthwhile benefits, and to urge upon other citizens of our fair city; their friends, or strangers within our gates, to avail themselves of the opportunity of enjoying these inspiring and helpful programs so ably and generously provided for us by the Woman's Club of our city. They are so happy to share them with all who may come, and ask nothing in return, but that we may be benefited and helped along life's way.

Wood Cutter Gets Severely Burned

George Sampson, 51 years old, a pulpwood cutter who lived with his wife and eight children in a cabin fourteen miles southeast of Grayling, was brought to Mercy Hospital, Friday, suffering from severe burns about the lower limbs and abdomen, which were caused when he poured gasoline on a fire, believing it to be kerosene. The home was completely destroyed by the flames.

It is reported that Mr. Sampson will be confined to the hospital for some time. For the time being the Sampson family are making their home with Albert Schriber.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY DANCE

The Grayling Fire Department urges you to be in attendance at their St. Patrick's Day dance to be held Tuesday, March 17th, at the High school gymnasium.

In years past it has been customary for the Grayling Band to hold their annual Band Dance on this date, but at the last minute they decided against such a dance this year. The firemen then decided to take over the night and promise you even a better time than you had at their Washington's Birthday dance.

They have secured the Poki Dot orchestra for this dance and they promise you an enjoyable evening of dancing.

The admission is 50c per couple; extra lady 25c.

Jack Redhead To Appear In Detroit

Announcement was made by Ben G. Wright, publicity director of the East Michigan Tourist association, that Jack Redhead, Grayling's well known guide on the AuSable river, will be present for two days this week during the showing of the E. M. T. A. exhibit at the Detroit and Michigan Exposition at Detroit. The exposition opened Friday.

Jack was stationed near the exhibit Wednesday and Thursday and answered questions concerning fishing and other outdoor activities in the AuSable region. Wright left Saturday for Detroit, where he will remain for 10 days. With him he had a large collection of outdoor and wildlife pictures which will be displayed in conjunction with the E. M. T. A. exhibit.

The exposition concludes March 15.

Womans Club

The club met Tuesday evening with Miss Nichols. Mrs. Vivian Peterson presided.

Mrs. Gertrude Peterson read a paper on "New Developments Along Railroad Lines," which was very instructive.

Television, wire photos, was given by Mrs. C. J. McNamara in a very interesting manner. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Schumann, when Rev. Fr. Moloney will address the club on "Work Done in Monasteries in Early Centuries."

MICHELSON MEM. CHURCH CHOIR HONORS MR. EDWARD WEBB

Sunday, March 8 was the 78th birthday of Mr. Edward Webb and the Michelson Memorial church choir, of which Mr. Webb has been a member for several years, celebrated the occasion with a pot-luck dinner at the church following the morning service.

Members of the choir, music committee and their families were included in the list of guests, fifty-three in number, who sat down to the tables following the singing of Happy Birthday to the guest of honor. A huge birthday cake, surrounded by seventy-eight candles, graced the table and was served by Mr. Webb.

At the morning service Mr. Webb rendered "Trusting in Thy Love" by Adam Gelbel, very beautifully.

During the time that Mr. and Mrs. Webb have made Grayling their home, Mr. Webb has been very generous with his voice, singing on each and every occasion at which he could be of assistance. The birthday party was one way that the choir could show their appreciation for a service well done.

Mr. and Mrs. Webb are the parents of Mrs. C. G. Clippert.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

Just A Few Sips and—Like A Flash—Relief!

Spend a few cents today at Mac & Gidley, druggists, or any drug store for a bottle of Buckley's Mixture (triple acting)—take a couple of sips and sleep sound all night long—your irritating cough of bronchitis is under control.

One little sip and the ordinary cough is on its way—continue for 3 or 4 sips and often you'll hear no more from that tough old hang-over cough that nothing seems to help; if not joyfully satisfied money back.

Congressman Roy O. Woodruff

President Roosevelt's demand that Congress place upon the shoulders of the already overburdened taxpayers of the nation an additional burden of more than eleven hundred millions of dollars brings more sharply to the attention of the public the profligate way in which the national substance is being dissipated by the Administration.

That public funds are being flung to the four winds is a matter of common knowledge, as every community can testify.

What is not generally known outside Washington, however, is that this waste and inefficiency has been raised to the fifth degree in the headquarters organizations of the many alphabetical agencies. Verification of this condition from the pen of an employee of the Resettlement Administration, who of course is a Democrat, otherwise he wouldn't have the job he holds, has come to me in the form of a letter which I quote as follows:

"That is the question at this time. We have winked at spending thousands, saying, 'Oh, that's not much' till the music must be faced.

"Why not begin in sincerity by eliminating some of the useless and worthless agencies? And, for the sake of common decency begin with the Resettlement Administration where—

"First, the Administrative payroll has reached near $2,000,000 per month.

"Second, thirteen thousand chair-warmers are doing and duplicating each other's work—and nearly all of it useless work.

"Third, eight hundred and ninety-four persons in the Administration engaged in 'man-agement' but so far no one has been able to find out what they manage.

"Fourth, more than 3,500 employees of Resettlement are receiving salaries in excess of civil service ratings—all because they have pull and friends.

"Fifth, the Administration's construction division is spending for labor to the tune of $30,000 per day—enough to build at least ten low cost houses, but does not build ten houses a month.

"Sixth, and this: Hundreds of the higher salaried employees know that they are on dignified relief, but why dish out relief at the rate of $2,500 to $5,000 per year per person?

"Seventh, of all the headaches the present administration will be the one when the public really finds out what a disorganized, far-flung, wasteful agency the Resettlement is.

"Eighth, and you may be interested in knowing that many have left the Resettlement to save their self-respect, and the writer of this will do so soon."

This is the agency referred to as "Utopia Unlimited" in a series of articles appearing recently in the Washington Post. One of the startling aspects of the Resettlement Administration is that it was brought into existence, not by Act of Congress, but by Executive Order of the President, who allotted nearly two hundred and fifty million dollars from the Emergency Relief fund placed at his disposal last year. It has all the powers of a government within a government, and goes ahead without so much as a "by-your-leave" from anyone except Professor Rexford Guy Tugwell who is its active head.

As nearly as we can gather from the sentimental and gushing pronouncements regarding its origin and purposes emanating from its publicity division, the philosophy pursued is that by shifting people around from where they are to where Professor Tugwell thinks they should be, somehow in the process the subjects of his experiments will realize the "more abundant life."

An illustration of this theory working out in practice is seen in the Matanuska Valley project in Alaska, involving transfer of 200 families from where they had established themselves in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota to the rim of the arctic circle, where they were allotted farms of 40 acres per family, upon which they assumed mortgages of $4,000 each, not one of which can ever be paid, even in part, but where, according to the brain-trusters, conditions for agricultural operations are almost ideal. The fact that the growing season in the valley is short, that there is no market for the products they can raise that has not been supplied by farmers long ago established at their own expense, means nothing to Dr. Tugwell. Ahead this experiment has cost the taxpayers more than $12,000 per family, forty of the 200 families have abandoned their projects, and the end is not in sight.

An even more startling discrepancy between the cost to the taxpayer and the benefit to the recipients of the favors being Far above other low priced cars in all but cost!

TERRAPLANE

Yes, different from other low priced cars—and far ahead of the rest—in style and everything else that counts! Can we prove this? Just look at a few facts about Terraplane.

Wheelbase, over-all length, inside leg room, head room, shoulder room—unmatched by any low priced car. Unmatched by cars costing $125 and $145 more.

"Extras" At No Extra Cost

Of all low priced cars only Terraplane gives you—at no extra cost—a rear opening baggage compartment with more room than the average trunk model, with spare tire lying flat inside.

Power—the same story. Terraplane is ahead of other cars in its price class by as much as 18 horsepower. And no vibration at any speed! Terraplanes with 125,000, 150,000 miles and more to their credit show you what that smoothness means in long life.

23.95 Miles per Gallon

Interested in economy? Here is Terraplane's latest—23.95 officially certified miles per gallon over 352 miles of mountain roads, with three passengers and baggage, in the recent Los Angeles-Yosemite Economy Run.

More... Terraplane is the only leading low priced car with body all of steel and seamless steel roof. And no other car in its whole price range has Duo-Automatic Hydraulic Brakes (patent applied for) . . . Radial Safety Control (patent applied for) . . . Tru-Line Steering . . . or The Electric Hand, optional at small extra cost.

The most amazing car in the low price field—this 1936 Terraplane. And right down with the lowest in cost for the model and features you want. Come in and see for yourself.

PRESENT WINTERS ARE WHAT THEY USED TO BE, OR MORE SO

"Winters, they aren't what they used to be," the old-timers' familiar remark, has been badly upset by weather bureau records cited at the meeting of the annual Michigan Highway Conference in Ann Arbor recently.

If it is snowfall the old-timer refers to, recent winters have been all they used to be, or more.

These are the facts, according to H. Merrill Wills, meteorologist of the U. S. Weather Bureau and director of the Michigan State Weather Service. During the past 48 years the average Michigan snowfall has been 56 inches.

Seven times it has reached 70 inches or more, in 1893, 1901, 1909, 1923, 1924, 1926 and 1929.

Only three such falls came in the first 35 years of this period, with four in the last 13 years.

Incidentally, the north coast of Marquette county has an average fall of 100 inches, exceeded nowhere in the nation except in mountain regions. Present prospects point to the likelihood of another 70 inch record for Michigan this winter, Wills said.

Complaints from highway authorities that the snow this year has been very difficult to move, were explained by Wills, who showed that the repeated, wind packed snowfalls, without warm periods, have resulted in a high density type of snow. Seventeen inches of snow tested at Lansing showed a water density of 3.7 inches, more than double that of normal light, moist snow.

The snow in the region of Mackinaw City is the equivalent of 9 inches of water and a sudden thaw will mean serious floods in many places.

spread around greets the inquirer who looks into the fiscal affairs of Professor Tugwell's Administration. Administrative costs have been averaging $13,000 to provide benefits to the needy of less than $2,500. The reason for this is vividly set forth in the letter quoted above.

In view of the conditions existing, which are typical of the conditions in the various alphabetical set-ups, I shall not vote additional taxes upon the people of this country to be wasted by these irresponsible in Washington.

PROTEST SHOULD BE MADE

Reports from Lansing and Washington state that the CCC camps in Michigan are doomed; that in a short time, perhaps a few weeks, work in the organization throughout the state will be discontinued.

If the reports are authentic, the people of the state should begin immediately to try, in some way, to stop the move. The citizens at large, business-groups, clubs, churches and civic organizations should rise in protest.

The CCC camps have become a necessity to us and without them some very serious problems are bound to arise.

In this district we have approximately 400 young men enrolled in the Civilian Conservation Corps. Take those men out of the camps and put them back in our cities and towns and we have a very important social problem on our hands.

Those boys will be idle and if allowed to hang around corners with nothing to do they are apt to get in some mix-ups that will do them no good and will also place a burden on the public. Perhaps some of the work they are now doing is not as constructive as it might be; but at least those young men are not idle and are under a form of discipline they would not be under if they were turned back into the channels from which they came.

When men between the ages of 18 and 25 are idle with little or no restrictions to govern their conduct, a group of potential law-breakers is in our midst. It is difficult for them to become anything else. It is true that not all of them would be violators if turned loose, but we must admit that a large number of them would. It is that group that would create more trouble for the public and more expense for the government than if the entire CCC became a permanent part of our government.

The CCC camps in Michigan are not only important to the young men enrolled in them, but they have helped greatly as a solution to local relief problems. They have taken members of families on relief and put them in camps where they no longer are burdens to our already overburdened poor commissions and county relief organizations. They have become a new and important consumer in each community near them. They have, and surely no one in Crystal Falls can doubt this, improved conditions for our tourist industry. We have only to glance through Iron county's park improvement program to realize the worth of the camps in this district.

The CCC is not one of the many New Deal luxuries, an answer to another spending problem, it is a social necessity and should be considered as such by the public and the heads of our government.

When the CCC camps were first sent to this district they created a bad impression. The first contingent came here from the hearts of the big cities and with a minimum of discipline, they proceeded to run wild through our towns when they visited them. But since then, a new attitude has grown up in the communities and a new attitude seems to have grown up among the young men; for no longer do they spend their week-ends in our jails. They, like the townspeople, seem to realize the necessity of the CCC as a solution to several important problems.

The government has started something that we hope will go on indefinitely so let us rise up in protest to any move to snatch this important institution from under us.—Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

STATE OF MICHIGAN

To the Circuit Court for the County of Crawford in Chancery:

The petition of John J. O'Hara, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, respectfully shows that the list of lands hereinafter set forth and marked "Schedule A," contains a description of all lands in said County of Crawford upon which taxes were assessed for the years mentioned therein, and which were returned as delinquent for non-payment of taxes, and which taxes have not been paid; together with the total amount of such taxes, with interest computed thereon to the time fixed for sale, and collection fee and expenses, as provided by law, extended against each of said parcels of land.

Your petitioner further shows to the Court that said lands were returned to the Auditor General under the provisions of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, as delinquent for non-payment of said taxes for said years respectively, and that said taxes remain unpaid; except that lands included in said "Schedule A" for taxes of 1890 or prior years were returned to the Auditor General as delinquent for said taxes under the provisions of the general tax laws in force prior to the passage of Act 200 of the Public Acts of 1891, and which taxes remain unpaid.

Your petitioner further shows that in all cases where lands are included in "Schedule A" as aforesaid for taxes of 1890 or of any prior year, said lands have not been sold for said taxes or have been heretofore sold for said delinquent taxes and the sale or sales so made have been set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction, or have been cancelled as provided by law.

Your petitioner further shows that in all cases where lands are included in "Schedule A," as aforesaid, for the first instalment of taxes of 1932, or of any prior year, said lands have not been sold for said taxes or have been heretofore sold for said delinquent taxes and the sale, or sales, so made have been set aside by court of competent jurisdiction by Legislative Action (See Act 126, P. A. of 1933, as amended by Act 11, Extra Session of 1934, as amended by Act 73, P. A. of 1935), or have been cancelled as provided by law.

Your petitioner further shows and avers that the taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses as set forth in said "Schedule A," are a valid lien on the several parcels of lands described in said schedule.

Your petitioner further shows that the said taxes on the said described lands have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent and the said taxes not having been paid, and the same being now due and remaining unpaid as above set forth, your petitioner prays a decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands, for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land contained therein, and in default of payment of the said several sums computed and extended against said lands, that each of said parcels of lands may be sold for the amounts due thereon, as provided by law, to pay the lien aforesaid.

And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.
Dated March 7, 1936.

JOHN J. O'HARA,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan,
for and in behalf of said State.

A list of the lands referred to as included in "Schedule A" is on file in the office of the County Clerk and subject to public inspection.

The Returned Delinquent Rolls and the Supplemental Returned Delinquent Rolls, together with the delinquent taxes of 1933, are all filed in the County Treasurer's office and contain the descriptions which will be offered for sale. They are subject to public inspection.

WAR ON WORMS AIDS LITTLE PIGS

Reliable statistics indicate that between 8 and 10 per cent of the population at some time or other suffer from ulcer of the stomach, or first part of the intestine. In our climate the symptoms of ulcer become acute usually in the fall or spring of the year. It is highly important that ulcers be treated promptly so that serious complications, such as hemorrhage and perforation with resulting peritonitis, be avoided. Of the thousands of the patients with this condition, most of them are aware that ulcer symptoms frequently recur even several years after their first appearance.

The first step in treatment is to establish the diagnosis of ulcer. This can be done by the history, physical examination and x-ray studies of the gastrointestinal tract. The history alone is extremely valuable in most cases and, when correctly obtained, should suggest the advisability of an x-ray examination.

Ulcers can scarcely be over-treated, that is to say, the treatment must be carried out exactly as directed by the physician for a fairly long period of time. We are frequently asked how long it will take the ulcer to heal. The evidence seems to indicate that four or five months are necessary, although the pain may disappear in as short a time as three or four days. Disappearance of the pain means only the beginning of treatment and not the end.

The standard treatment of duodenal ulcer consists of frequent feedings of non-irritating foods which tend to neutralize the acid secretion of the stomach. The basis of the diet is milk and cream given at intervals of one to two hours during the day. Later eggs, cream soups and cereals are added. The medicinal treatment also is calculated to neutralize the acid secretion and promote frequent emptying of the stomach. It has been found by experimental studies of ulcers in rabbits that coarse foods prevents the healing of an ulcer, and that soft food tends to promote healing.

The symptoms of ulcer in the upper part of the small intestine usually are, a burning pain appears from two to three hours after meals, that is, when the stomach is nearly empty. This pain also occurs commonly at night. Usually food or soda will give relief. With the appearance of such symptoms an examination by the family physician should be obtained in order to determine the presence of an ulcer. Surgical intervention is carried out only after efficient medical treatment has shown that complications exist which are not remediable by dietary and medicinal measures. Occasionally, cancer results when an ulcer of the stomach has been present over a long period of time. In the small intestine cancer is so rare in relation to ulcer that it need not be considered.

The essential point in the treatment of ulcer is, first, its recognition, secondly, persistent and thorough treatment, as directed, until the ulcer is completely healed, and thirdly, the necessity of remaining on a modified dietary regimen for many years following the healing of an ulcer in order to prevent its seasonal recurrence.

WAR ON WORMS AIDS LITTLE PIGS

Precaution against roundworm infestation of swine should be planned right now, Prof. Verne A. Freeman, animal husbandry department, Michigan State College, advises. Clean pastures, clean farrowing quarters, and clean sows will eliminate the danger of roundworm parasites and insure larger litters at weaning time, fewer runts, and a more profitable product, he points out.

"Roundworms are about the most common and troublesome parasite affecting pigs raised in Michigan," he says. "Pigs become infested by swallowing the eggs of the parasite picked up on infested ground. The eggs are dropped in the manure from infested pigs and develop in a few weeks. Now is the time to plan control to purchase thrifty profitable pigs."

"The eggs of the parasite are microscopic in size and may live for years in the soil or in and about the hog houses. The young pigs need protection until they are three or four months old, after which time they become resistant and the worms do not cause them much trouble."

First Amendment to Constitution
The first amendment to the United States Constitution reads: "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances."

We were not surprised upon seeing Earl Gierke doing a great deal of "lusty" cheering for the McBain boys during their two tournament games which were held Friday and Saturday evening. Even though he is a teacher at McBain high school, we know that Earl still has a "soft spot" for the old green and white. At the same time it must have been very gratifying for Earl to see his boys carry off the honors in a game that anyone might be proud of.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hoesli and son Clarence returned Saturday evening, from their sightseeing tour through Florida which lasted over a month. Taking the central route down, it took five days to reach Florida and coming back along the eastern coast took six days. According to all reports the Hoesli's had a "whole" of a good time and saw all of Florida that they possibly could. They say that the weather there is almost as cold as it is here in Michigan except that it is a damp cold and there is no snow. Throughout the trip they traveled through thirteen different states. However, as Mr. Hoesli says, "Michigan has them all beaten!"

Among the Clerks

(By J. Wellington Bumsted)

Mac & Gidley's is now dignified by the recently-acquired services of two clerks of long standing, Nadine McNeven, formerly of the Central drug store, and Edna Muth, of the Hanson Cafe.

Friday a Mr. and Mrs. of some unknown city or village paid a very brief visit to the Hanson Cafe—when they left they were slightly richer, taking with them everything portable except the waiter's shoes and that was because they didn't fit!

According to the report of one of the Hanson Cafe boys, his name is kept secret for business reasons, the C.C.C. patronage at the Cafe is picking up—he says, "Maybe it is because of the blond waitress!"

Fritz Heath, of the Plaza Grill, seems to have graduated from the headlines and is apparently a "forgotten" man. He is frequently to be seen standing on street corners or leaning forlornly against lamp posts—watching the world go by and counting the days until he will be back on the job. That's what we're doing—counting the days!

We are wondering if that is a murderous glitter which lights the eye of our former butcher—or is it just that George's conscience is being haunted by all those poor innocent beasts he must have slaughtered by this time!

It is whispered around that Irene Swarthout, of Shoppenagons Inn, is about to put it over on us. At least, it is generally known that she is making a mysterious trip to Flint this week. Such being the case, most of us are wondering just what will happen to a certain member of the truck driver's union!

Russell Robertson and Elmer Fenton are beginning to acquire a very "harried" appearance. Maybe this recreational stuff is getting them down. On the other hand both boys are great basketball fans and it may be just a "let down" following Grayling's loss of the title. Anyway, both boys look just a wee bit "squeamish!"

For the first time Farnum Matson crashes the gates of publicity! A lady visitor was heard to remark to a local townsman that she would "like to camp on the postoffice doorstep, basking in the sun of that young clerk's dazzling smile!"

Camp News

CAMP HIGGINS LAKE

Capt. and Mrs. G. E. Murphy and family are spending a week's leave of absence at their home in Berrien Springs and will visit relatives in Illinois.

Enrollees Anthony Thomas of Camp Sable River, Robert Schroeder and Harold Brockie of Camp Houghton Lake have been transferred to this organization, while Lyle Taylor was transferred to the Houghton Lake camp. Evert Fife and George Mazel have received discharges.

Walter Hutton returned to camp from Detroit, where he has been since last November, receiving treatment for a leg injury at Fort Wayne hospital.

New classes in radio and first aid have started here. The radio group will specialize in code practice to qualify men to become amateur operators.

A new travelling library was transferred here last week from Camp Eldorado. New books always bolster library circulation.

It cost slightly less than 41 cents a day to feed 184 enrollees at this camp during the month of February. There was plenty of substantial food but few of the fancy dishes. Lieut. J. D. Hartley is the mess officer.

Chaplain J. L. Connolly is presenting the Lenten season topics in his weekly camp talks in this subdistrict.

Several farewell events are in preparation for honoring Major C. E. Howard, who expects to be relieved as subdistrict commander here the last of the month.

Higgins Lake Happy Days, the camp's mimeographed newspaper commenced its third year of publication with the Wednesday issue. It has been issued weekly since its inception.

In the near future the camp's infirmary is to be remodeled in an attractive and convenient manner. There will be a ward, treatment room, quarters for attendants, bath room, and linen closet when the alterations are completed.

CAMP AUSABLE

Captain Bryant and Dr. Gottlieb visited Camp Presque Isle the fore part of the week.

"Dutch" Lodewyk and "Gabby" Gabrysiak, coaches of Central State Teachers college, Mt. Pleasant, visited Camp Ausable while at Grayling refereeing the District tournament. They gave inspiring talks to the enrollees which were greatly appreciated.

A large group of enrollees attended the Rialto theatre Tuesday night to see the picture "It's A Great Life." The movie depicts life in the CCC camp.

C. B. Boots, a member of Wanta's crew, discovered some coal in a swamp north of Grayling while grubbing for a truck trail. At first it was thought to be a finding of new coal fields but after looking around a while the enrollees found an old railroad bed and decided it had been used for an old narrow gauge logging engine.

After due deliberation by a jury two stray dogs were found guilty of attacking deer and were punished by death. A fawn which had been hamstringed by the dogs was brought into camp but died in spite of first aid administered by the medical officer.

Bayard K. Buchen, educational adviser, will go to Lansing this week to attend the third annual Michigan Guidance Conference to be held at the Hotel Olds Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14. The speakers on the program are Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Ben D. Wood of Columbia University, New York City and Sam Hill, District Educational Adviser for the CCC camps of the Camp Custer District.

Frank Wood has shown some great skill in handicraft by making beautiful tie racks for the officers' quarters.

Enrollees are marking time in wait for the snow to leave so they can begin gathering rocks to build the fireplace in their new educational building. This week will see the roof on and the chinking of the logs completed. It is hoped that the house warming and moving in process will take place about the middle of April.

A new library consisting of 91 books was received from Higgins Lake Camp and has been a life saver to the enrollees due to the fact that the camp area is under high water and the only thing left to do is read. Circulation has been greatly increased according to Bob Coulter, the camp librarian.

Under the new educational schedule each of the Foresters is meeting with his crew one night a week for group discussions about the project. These meetings while of educational value, also have a tendency to create more interest in the work project.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to friends who so kindly assisted at the death of our father. Also for the beautiful flowers, and the choir and Rev. Flory for his sympathetic words.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Anna. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. King. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kulas. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benedict and Families. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gohn. Mr. and Mrs. August Wright. Thomas Benedict.

his pastime with our... We admire his loyalty to his fellow beings, his town, his country and his God.

It is for these a boy admires his father and comes near worshipping him.

In turn we owe to our fathers: Consideration, cooperation and a determination to make the most of what they do for us. We owe them the same loyalty, love and respect they show us. There is not a thing in life that can be bought or found half so precious as a real father.

In closing I will quote some lines, which express better than I can, my thoughts—

To My Father—

Unknown in halls of fame, Yet truly great My Father.

Great in the greatest things of life.

Not great in earthly wealth But greatly generous; Generous in kindly council, Patience and in Love, Unsung in songs, but shrined in loving hearts, My Father.

Axel Peterson, county clerk, responded to John Henry's toast on behalf of the elders, saying as follows:

Sons of Grayling, we fathers are proud of you—of what you are, of what you are to be, of what you are to do. We know that men cannot as a rule realize their highest ambitions and that they look to their sons to take up the unfinished tasks. We believe you will not fail them.

To meet the demands of today and tomorrow, you sons will need to be your best and do your best. The best you have will be none too good to solve successfully the pressing problems which your community and nation and the world will place upon the doorstep of your generation. Success means a glorious new golden age, failure means a decaying civilization.

You do not enter upon your task alone, for we offer you our counsel and our companionship. We have been a little farther along the road and can point out landmarks and danger signs. In the home we want to be your companions, in your school life we want you to know that we are with you, we want to stand shoulder to shoulder with you wherever you are.

Here's to you boys, young and old—here's to your growth in body, mind and spirit, here's to your happiness, success and health. Here's to you boys.

Splendid Lesson For Youth. Gerald Poor, superintendent of schools, was introduced, who paid a fine tribute to the speaker of the evening—Charles Bachman—portraying the great success of Michigan State college since the coming there of Mr. Bachman to take charge of the college football activities.

Mr. Bachman told of some of his experiences on the gridiron during and before he joined Michigan State. He got his start in Chicago and finished his amateur football career at Notre Dame. After that time he served as coach of several well known colleges and universities.

The kind of fellow he doesn't want on his team took in a wide range of characters and showed that the circle of desirables is small indeed. The fellow who makes his team must first be an honor student; he must have the physique; he must have determination; he must be willing to sacrifice every other social ambition; he must carry out training rules; must have daring and quick thinking; must practice team work; for his failures he must have no alibis, and many other qualifications.

His tales of football game experiences were very interesting and listened to with deep interest. Coach Bachman speaks plainly but fluently and impresses one with his sincere sense of interest in the subject he is speaking about.

He paid us a nice compliment when he stated that this was the finest fathers and sons banquet that he had ever attended, and complimented the Ladies Aid of the church for their fine dinner and the service. He closed his part of the program by presenting several reels of motion pictures showing parts of M. S. C. games played last fall against U. of M. and University of Marquette.

Mr. Bachman was accompanied by his assistant coach Teriak. They remained some time after the close of the program, much to the pleasure of many who wanted to ask questions and listen to his highly interesting conversation.

If an election were to be held now, how would the public vote? What percentage of the vote would each of the major parties poll? For the answer read "America Speaks" in Sunday's Detroit News.

their feet raring to go and the fans were struggling with each other trying to at least get a glimpse of the miracle that was being performed before them. What a miracle! Before the game started Gaylord was decidedly the favorite to win; but here was McBain, the team that hadn't hardly been given a chance to come through playing neck and neck with last year's champs.

What a ball game! With five minutes to go McBain was leading, 27-23. Then Gaylord made one last, great effort to win, scoring two baskets over another to tie it up at 27-27. McBain scored a foul shot with seconds to go and won the ball game, 28-27.

Referee Lodewyk when presenting the trophies to the winning teams, said that this tournament was as close a tournament as he had ever seen and wished all the teams the best of luck next year.

Mr. Lodewyk, assisted by Mr. Gabrysiak, both of Mt. Pleasant, did a very efficient job of handling the ball games. Everyone is aware of the fact that officiating a ball game is about the toughest assignment that can be given a person.

Friday McBain tackles Rogers City in the Regional meet at Petoskey. Houghton Lake clashes with Onekema Thursday afternoon.
